

Read the Bible in 2009 by Adney Cross

Some features of this schedule:

- Old Testament every day and New Testament every day
- Psalms or Proverbs for 363 days (virtually every day)
- Easter on Easter and Christmas on Christmas
- Revelation follows John
- Acts follows Luke
- Paul's letters not all together but interspersed throughout the year
- Narratives seldom interrupted
- Old Testament often follows a chronological order
- Some prophetic books interspersed, where appropriate, with historical books such as Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, Micah, Nahum, Zephaniah, and Obadiah
- Some Psalms interspersed with historical books where appropriate (Psalms: 3, 34, 51, 52, 54, 56, 57, 59, 60, 63, and 90)
- Sunday dates are in bold type
- This is not copyrighted so you may copy it for non-commercial use

I highly welcome any comments, criticisms, and critiques of this schedule as well as any suggestions for this schedule.
